WuChi

Created 1981

The Wu-Chi School of Arts uses martial art as an agent to teach character development, providing the youth of today (especially the more boisterous and vigorous male youth) with opportunities to gain moral stability and self-discipline, via an activity that they wish to be associated with.

StudioOne

Created 1995

StudioOne School of Modelling and Department uses aspects of the fashion and beauty industry as an agent to provide personal development courses that are appealing and pertinent to the needs of teenage girls and young women, especially before and during the years when they are most likely to be led astray.

Bizel

Created 2003

Bizel is a Business Education and Mentoring School that creates and runs specialised programs and courses that directly help young people learn how to become enterprising in today's business world; teaching them how to become successful and ethical business-owner-operators.
